Moritzburg Festival goes outdoor again Ticket sales start on April 12th, 2021

DRESDEN, March 30th, 2021

The Moritzburg Festival under the artistic direction of Jan Vogler, looks ahead a summer full of chamber music under the stars. After a very successful edition in the previous year, the festival will take place from August 7th to 22nd, 2021 with openair concerts on the Northern terrace of the Moritzburg Castle, and featuring 25 international soloists such as Louis Lortie (piano), Veronika Eberle (violin), and Albrecht Mayer (oboe).

For its 29th edition, the festival organisers will present 22 concerts with highlights such as the late octet in B flat major by Max Bruch (11.08) and the Overture on Hebrew Themes by Sergey Prokofiev (10.08). This piece, along with the concert-lecture by the actress Hannelore Koch on August 14th who will read texts by the Saxon author Stefan Heym, will commemorate 1.700 years of Hebraic culture in Germany.

“The music is fighting for its existence in those times of pandemic. The musicians and the audience are looking forward to the concerts in the wonderful setting of the Moritzburg Castle. We will not disappoint them.”, says Jan Vogler, artistic director of the festival.

The festival also invites young music students from all over the world to be part of the Moritzburg Festival Academy (the director is Mira Wang). Under the baton of its chief conductor Josep Domenech Caballé, the 40 musicians play in the Moritzburg Festival Orchestra and perform on chamber music concerts during the 2 festival weeks. The musical picnic in the Proschwitz Castle (15.08) and the Long Night of the Chamber Music (19.08) will feature the chamber music works alongside with the highlight “Moritzburg for all” (21.08) presenting the whole orchestra in the Kulturpalast in Dresden, after the premiere in 2019.
